

Langdyke Trust

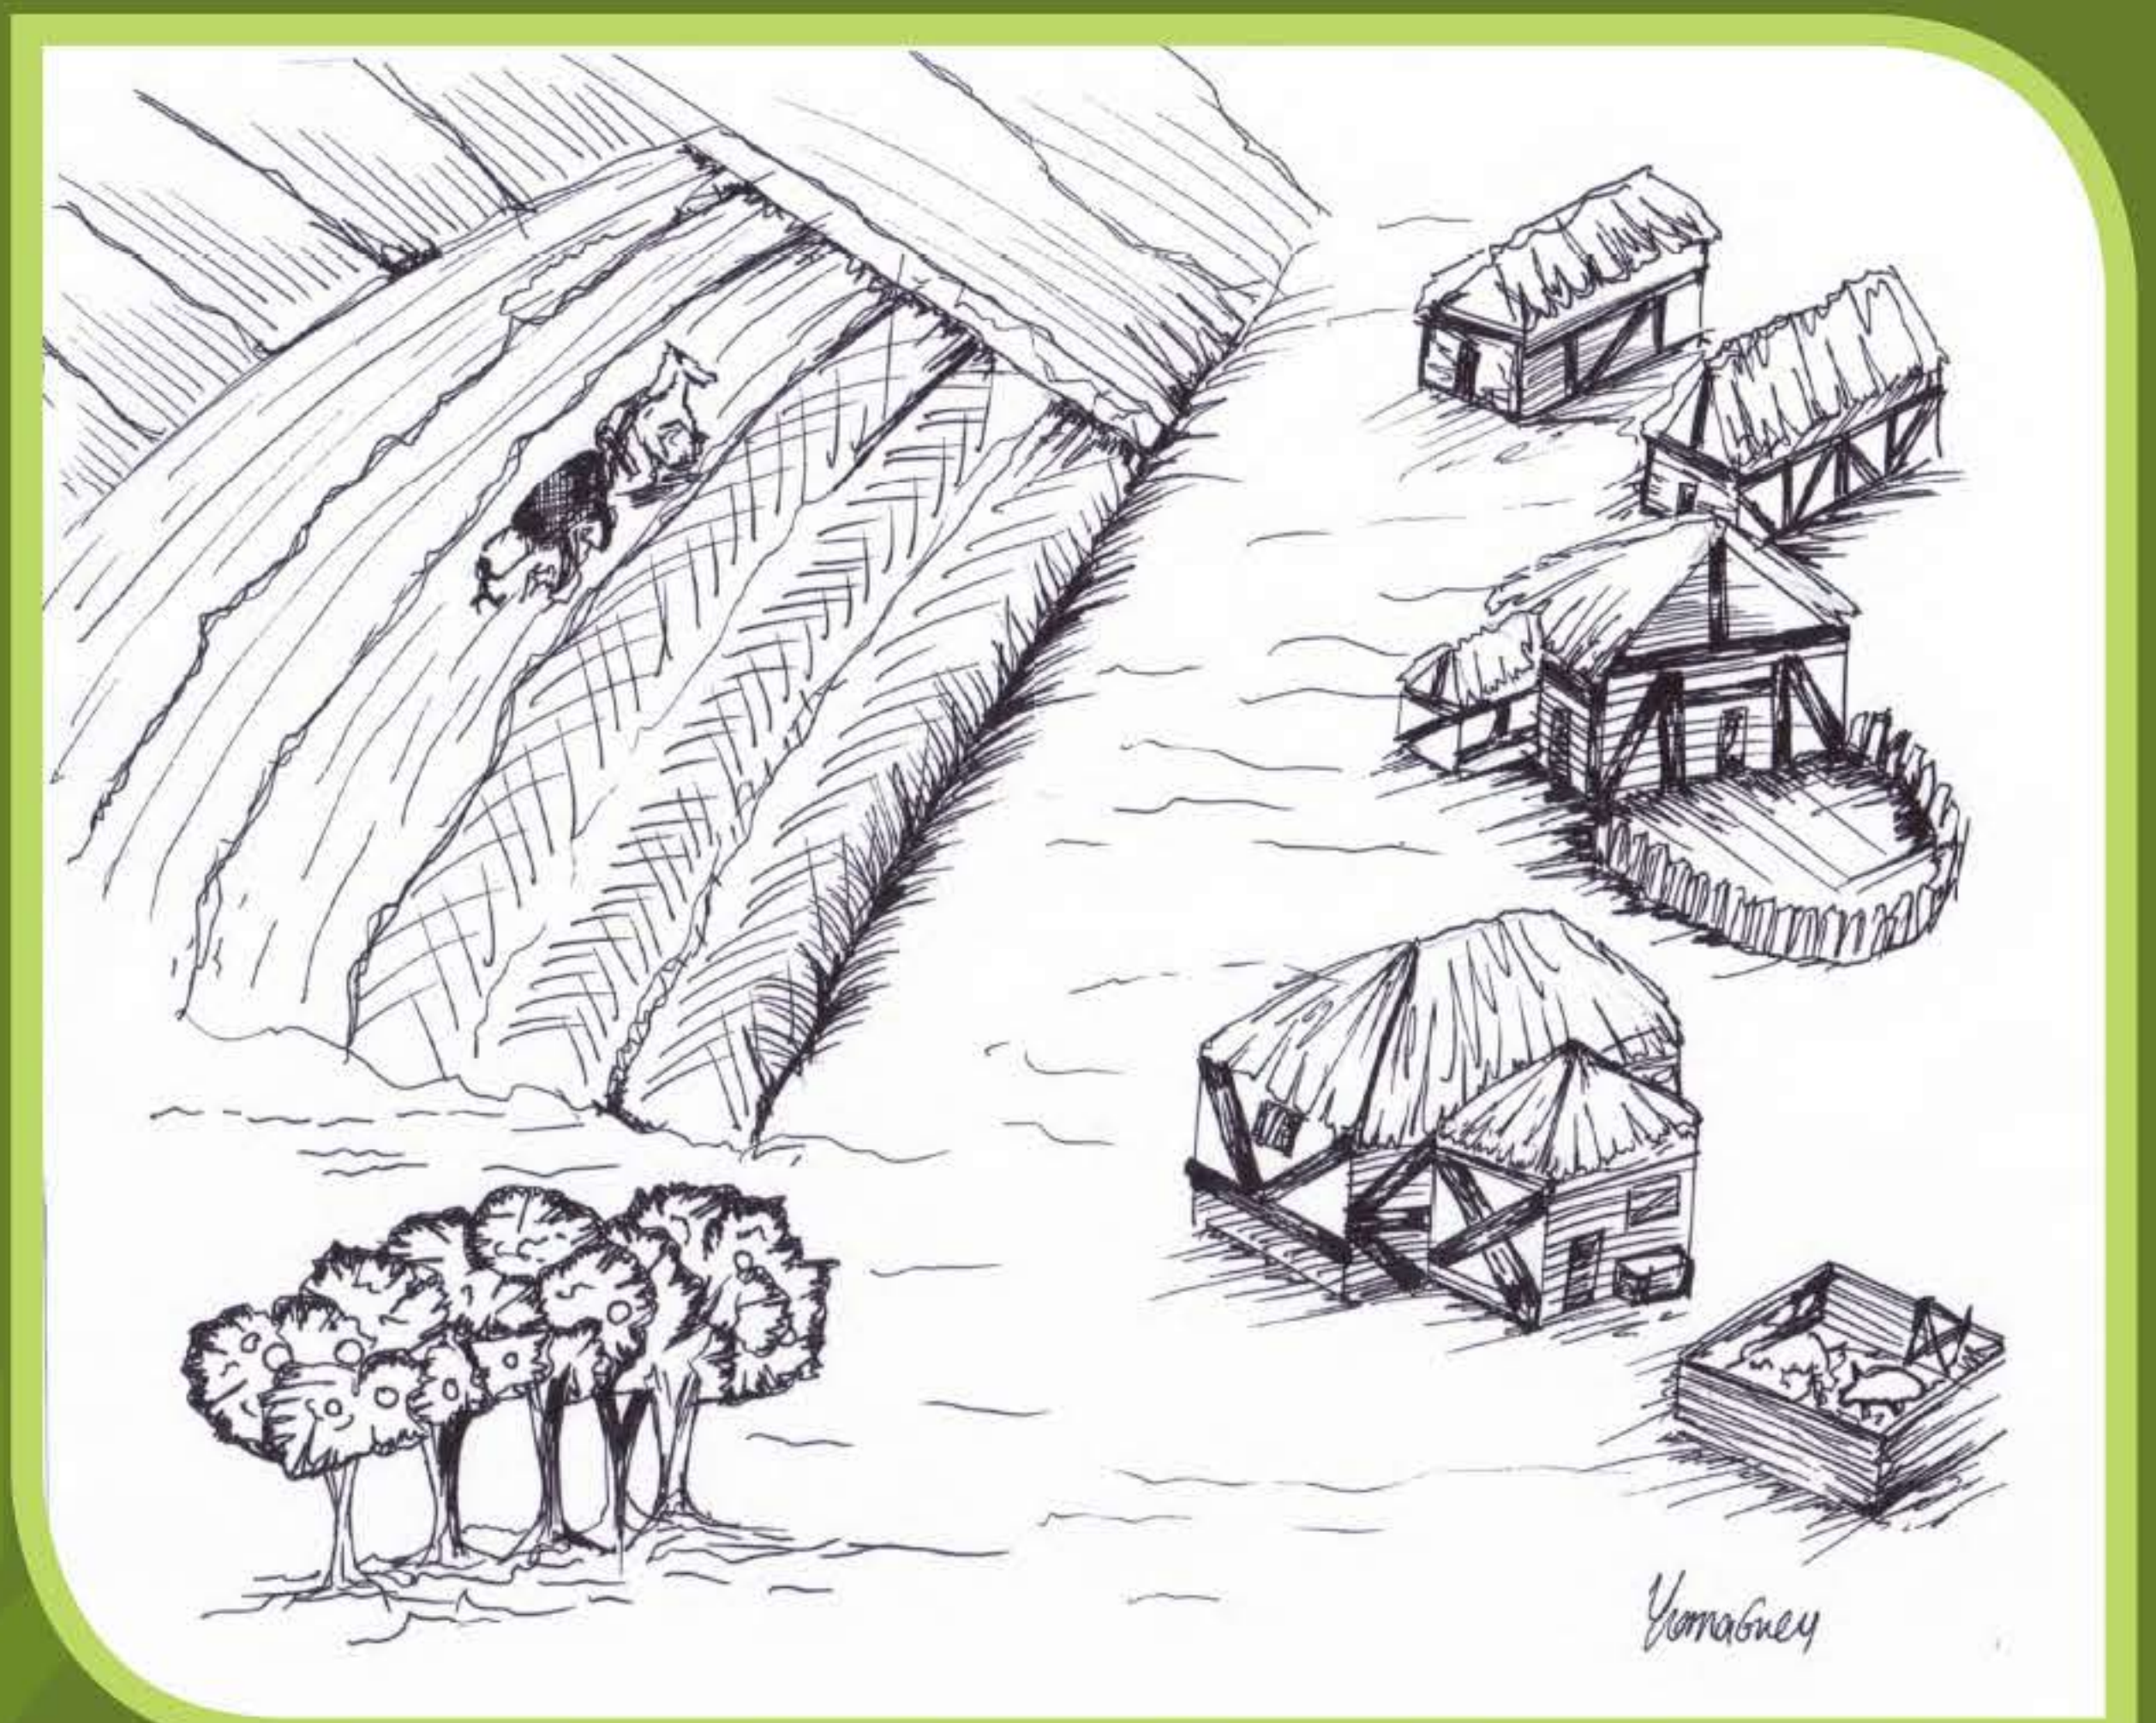

Supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund

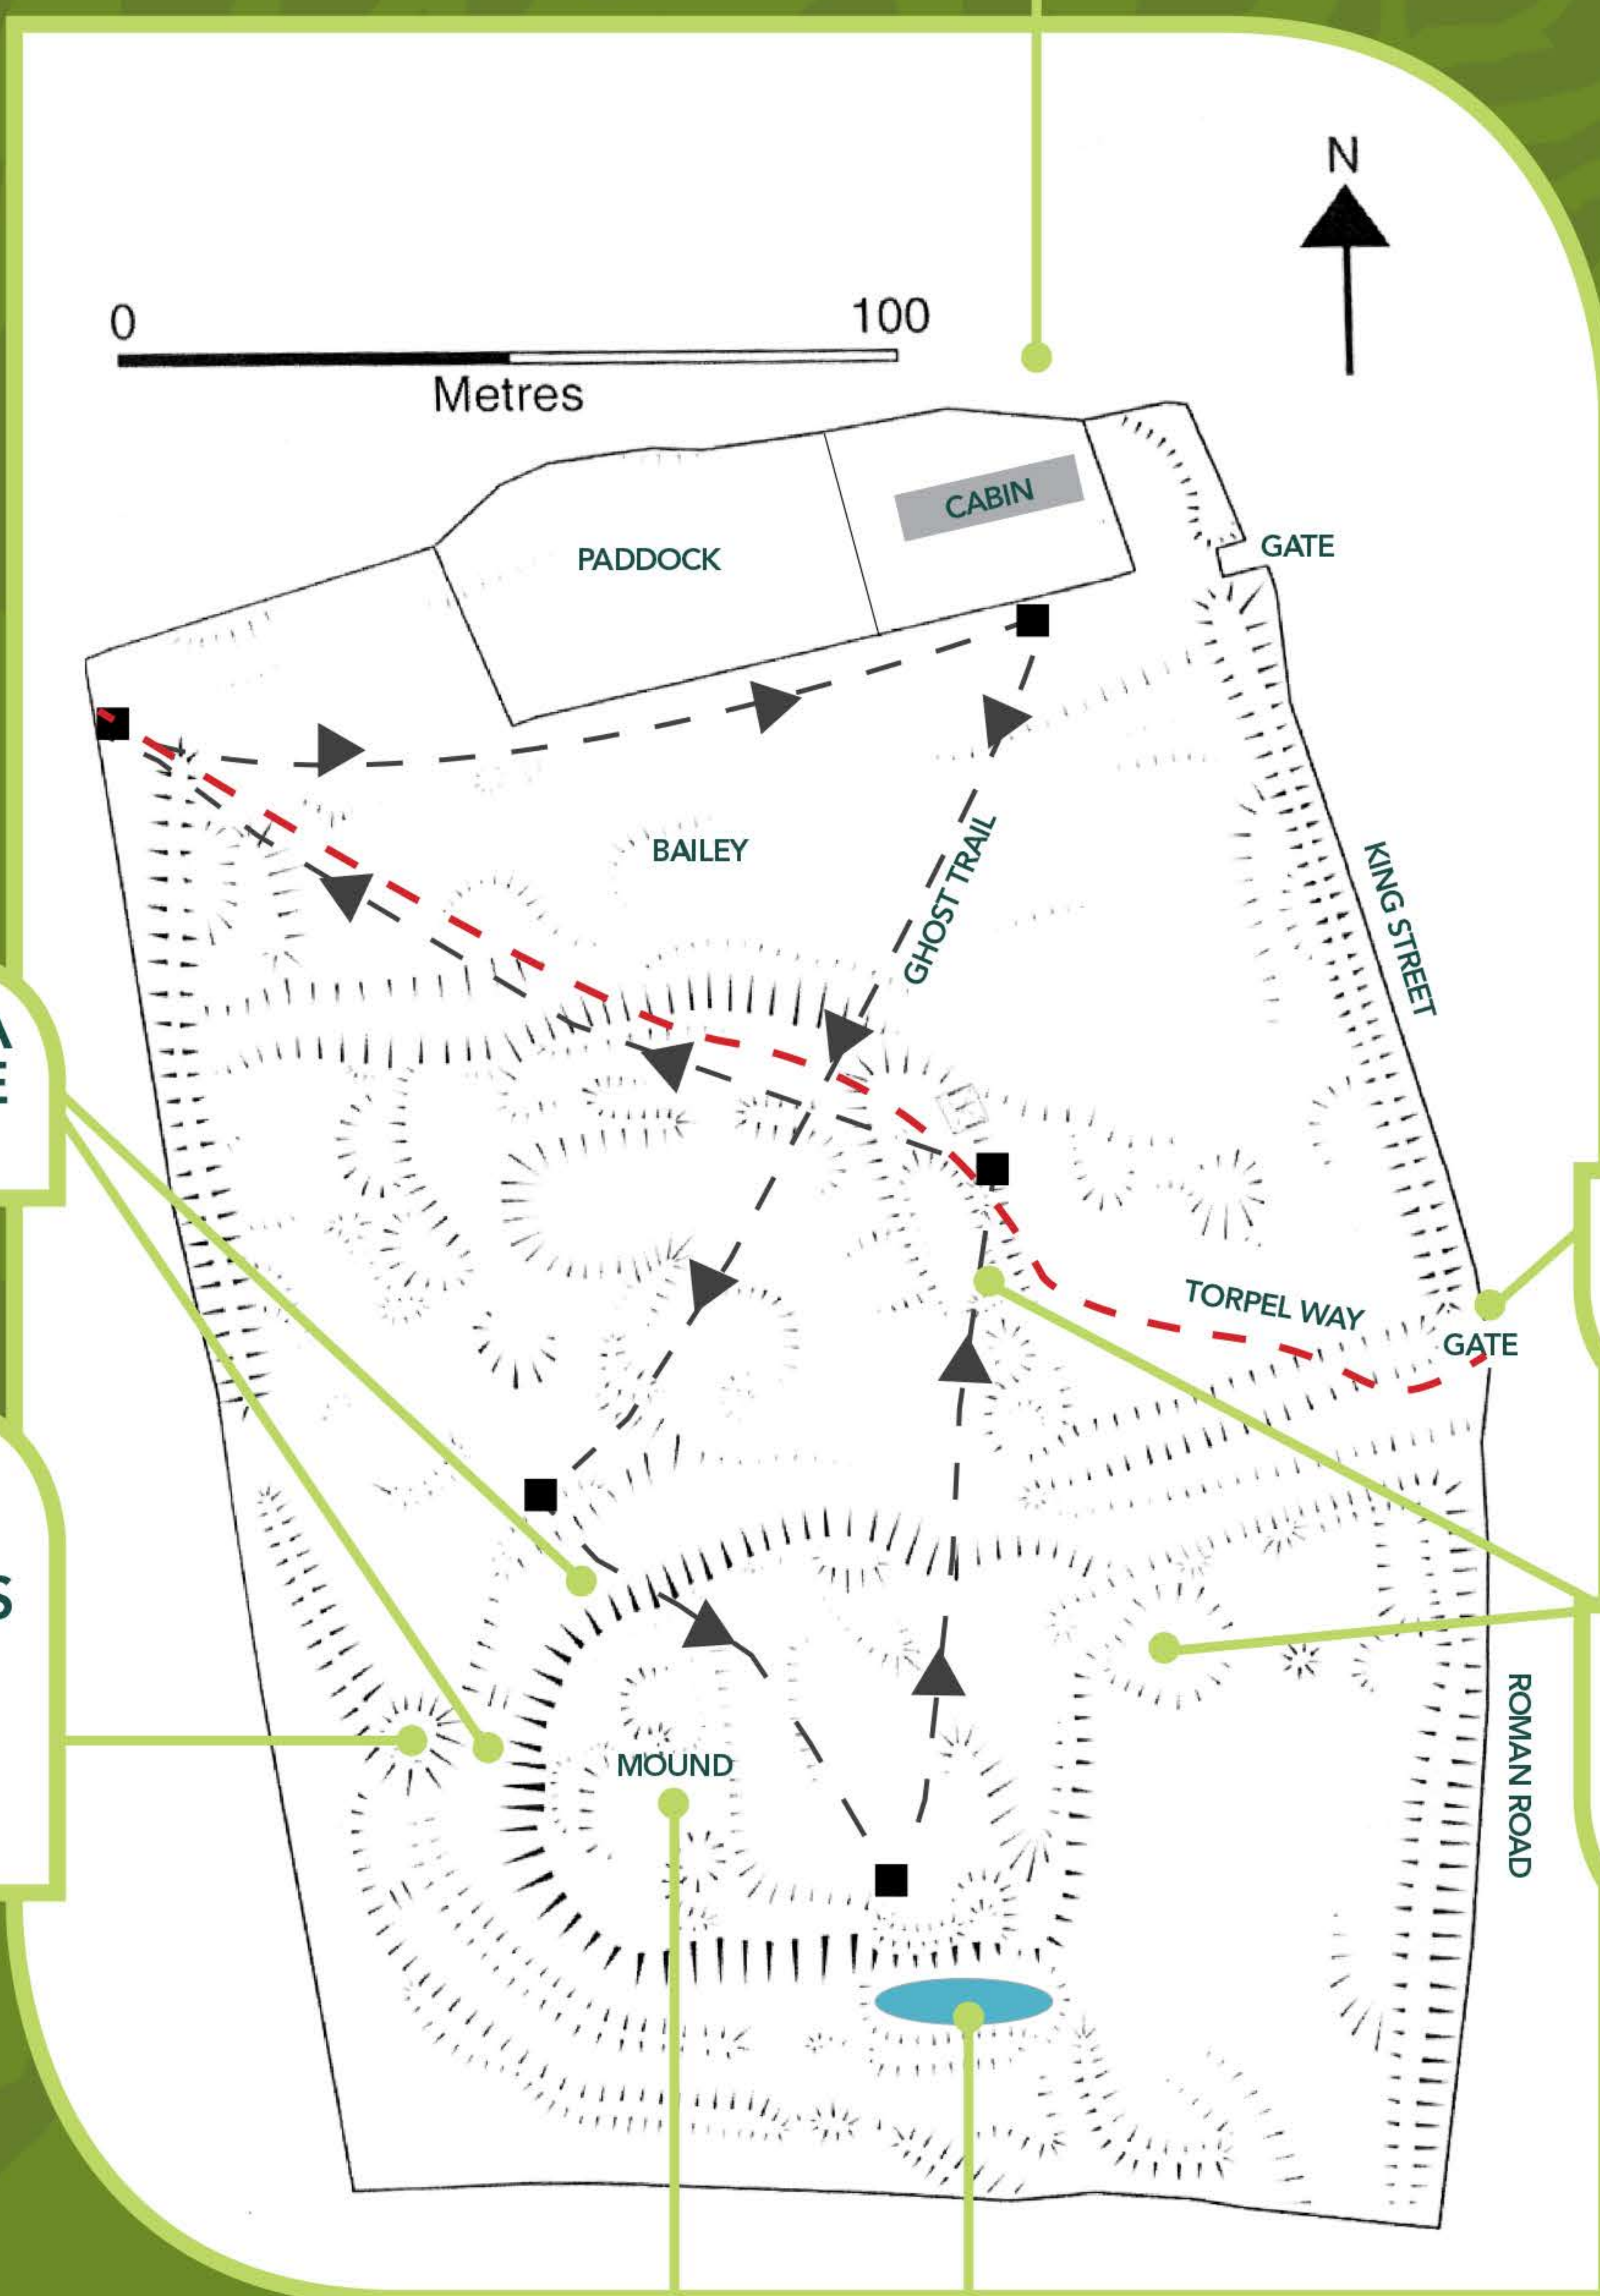

WHAT IS THERE TO SEE AT TORPEL?

THE REMAINS OF 5 METRE WIDE DRY DITCH

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION OF TORPEL VILLAGE AND OPEN FIELDS IN 1300

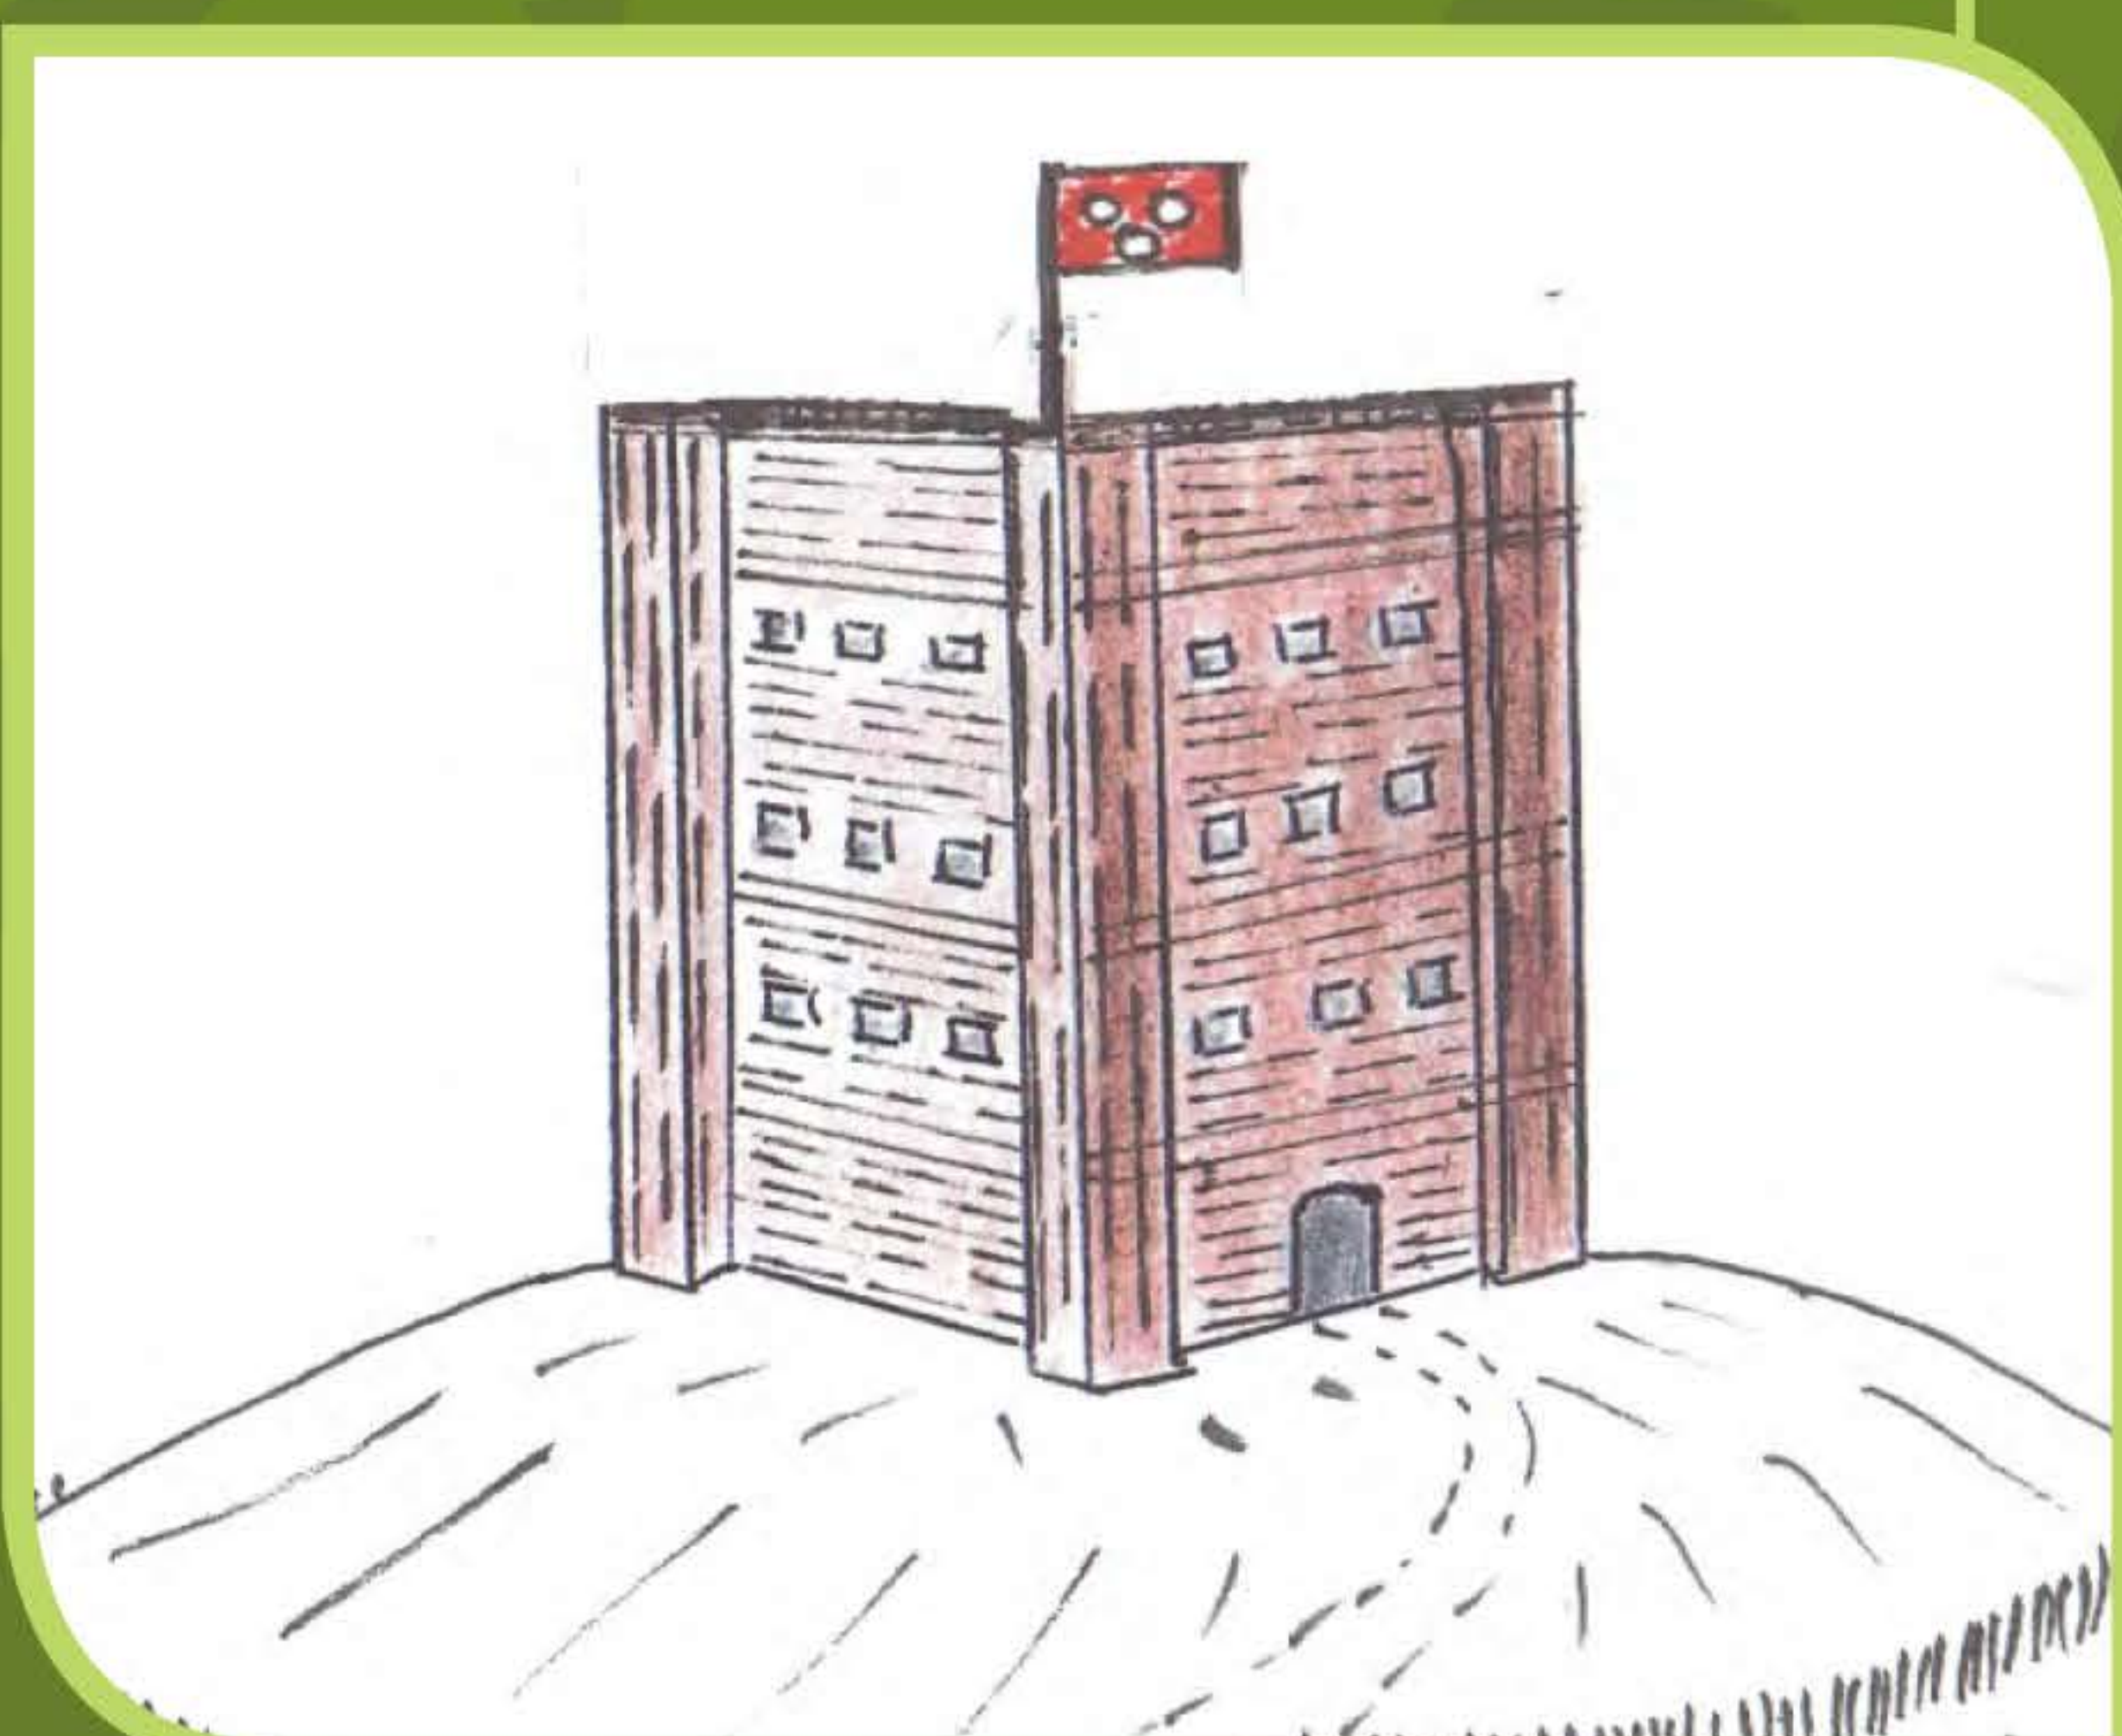

REMAINS OF A 5 METRE WIDE DRY DITCH

VIEW TOWARDS LAWN WOODS AND RUINS OF LODGE (NO PUBLIC ACCESS)

MAIN ENTRANCE TO THE MANOR

TWO OF THE MANY BUILDING PLATFORMS

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION OF WOODEN TOWER ON THE MOUND

It was built soon after the Norman Conquest and was protected by ditches and high wooden fences. Archaeological evidence such as the key, Collyweston slate and glass fragments suggests that Torpel House, built about 1276, was also on the mound.

THE POND AFTER WET WEATHER AND STEEP BANK OF MOUND

There is a Cornbrash limestone rock face in the bushes on the right.